Red tape shortens sand beach project

BY MARY G. SEILEY A 1.3-mile section of Hancock County's beach renourishmnent program was dropped Tuesday.

Last-ditch efforts to salvage at least some of the southernmost stretch of the program failed, leaving the Board of Supervisors angry over state and federal officials protection of a "fragile" strand of submerged sea grasses standing in the project's path.

County officials refused to accept federal agencies' demands for a "blank check" on costs to mitigate destruction of some "ruppia maritima" grasses in the area at issue, south of Dane Street. An open-ended commitment from the county was required by federal agencies which have permitting authority over the project.

Supervisors were wondering aloud whether the same federal agencies would foot the bill to save the seawall along Beach Boulevard, in areas where the renourishment program has been disallowed. Supervisor Robert Peterson said the board had raised some taxpayers' ey brows by offering even $100,000 for the mitigation project.

"It seems like the grass is more important than human life," said Supervisor Michael Ladner, president of the board. Supervisor Alton Kellar said it's "a sad day for this county when grasses will stop the project.

Stanislaus

Only boys were taught at Stanislaus until recent years, when an agreement was made with Our Lady Academy, a neighboring all-girls school. Students from both schools share in certain courses.

A yellow fever epidemic that swept the Mississippi Gulf Coast and City of New Orleans from July 1 to November 1, 1853, did much to establish St. Stanislaus in Shieldsborough. Shieldsborough's name changed to Bay St. Louis in

The first Catholic School in Shieldsborough was opened on Sept. 1, 1852, under the guidance of Father Buteux, pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic

The Christian Brothers were placed in charge of the school, three in number, and they lived in the rectory with the pastor.
The school was housed in a framed building of two rooms behind the church.

The school was primarily for boys from Shieldsborough, but a few boarders from New Orleans were accepted and lodged in the rectory.

In all probability it was the first boarding school for boys in the Diocese of Natchez. The 1853 yellow fever killed thousands, and Father Buteux was forced to dismiss the boarders and close the school. It is generally believed that two of the Christian Brothers died of the vellow fever.

Father Buteux was a man of courage. He went to Modile and consulted with the Brothers of the Sacred Heart. Here he obtained three Brothers; Brother Basile and Brother Aloysius, teachers; and Brother Leo, cook.

In June 1854, the school was reopened and continued to operate until January 1, 1856.

The Brothers received $18 each per month for each instructor, and during this period and up until 1870, classes were conducted during the summer, and the vacation was in December

In August 1854, Father Buteux sailed for France to interview Brother Polycarp, the Superior General of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, and pointed out to him the advantages of founding a board-ing school for boys at Shieldsborough.

An agreement was made where Father Buteux should pay the traveling expenses of the four Brothers selected, and in addition pay one-half the cost. of the land for the school.

All preparations were made. and Brothers Avit, Lucius, Ramond, Ephrem Flechet, Eusebe Gulosnier, with another Brother George Leydier, intended for Dubuque, sailed on the "John Hancock" from Havre, France, on Nov. 19,

On Dec. 30, 1854 they reached New Orleans; and on Jan. 3, 1855, they reached Mobile, and applied themselves to the task of learning English.

In the meantime preparations were being made for the erection of the new school.

The site selected was just 100 yards south of the church. It faced the Gulf of Mexico, and measured 140 feet front and ran west to the depth of 40 arpents.

The cost of the property was $4,000. A frame building was erected that measured 80 feet long and 2½ stories high.

Brother Paul Montero, current president of St. Stanislaus, has a copy of the original Bill of Sale in the amount of $4,000 in the City of Shieldsborough, dated February 24, 1855.

Brothers Leo Maligne and Lucius Ramdon, with assistance of a few laborers, built the first school at an approximate cost of $3,800.

The building was ready for occupancy January 1, 1856, and placed under the protection of St. Stanislaus, the patron saint of Father Buteux. St. Stanislaus is also the patron saint of

The school opened with the seven Brothers, of which Brother Athansius Faugier was director.

The school prospered, and in 1859 it was necessary to erect an additional building 100 feet west of the main structure.

The annex measured 50 feet by 30 feet, and supplied two dining rooms, a community room, a director's room, a chapel and a dormitory,

During the Civil War the Bay suffered from a scarcity of provisions, and it was also a difficult time to provide transportation for boarders. It was decided to close at the end of the 1863-64 session.

Two Brothers remained to take care of the property, and the others moved to New Orleans to open the Annunciation Parish School for day students and boarders.

At this time Brothers Avit and Hugh joined the Confederate Army, both returned after the war.

The Brothers returned to the Bay July 1, 1865, and reopened St. Stanislaus.

From the beginning until 1870, the course of studies was that of common school with emphasis on commercial branches.

A big blow came to St. Stanislaus on June 21, 1903, as fire destroyed the main building located on the beachfront. The kitchen and dining rooms escaped the fire.

The City of Biloxi petitioned the Brothers to build in their city, and on July 11, 1903, the Brothers reached the decision to rebuild the school in Bay St.

Phoenix-like, the new St. Stanislaus arose from the ashes of the old; and on June 21, 1904, Rt. Rev. Thomas Heflin, Bishop of Natchez, blessed the new

In 1925 the old gym was built at an approximate cost of $65,000. In 1930, a like new wing was added to the south side, to include a chapel, study hall (now library), science rooms and rooms for the faculty. This was at a cost of $90,000.

In 1942, when The Sea Coast Echo celebrated its 50th anniversary, St. Stanislaus had grown into an institution with assests valued at approximately $400,000.

The main dormitories for students were on the second floor of the three-story school building which opened in 1904.

These were replaced in 1966 when Aurelian Hall was constructed at a cost of $800,000.

The school was self-sufficient in several areas, and the modern dormitory was dedicated to Brother Aurelian who kept the school's lunch rooms supplied with farm-fresh vegetables for more than 50 years.

Hurricane Camille in 1969 did severe damage to the school's brick building constructed in 1903-04, which was President Nixon came to express personal concern and bring a plane full of hope and reassurance to Hurricane Camille victims.

Just the sight of the American flag emblazoned on the plane and the wording United States of America was enough to raise the spirits of the grieving, heavyburdened throng.

We waved to the plane and the President and the officials who came to declare the Mississippi Gulf Coast a disaster area.

The nation is saddened by the passing of President Richard Nixon. In addition, the people of Hancock County and the Mississippi Gulf Coast should be able to say, a friend of ours has been laid to rest.

I received a letter from a dog owner about my comments in Sunday's column suggesting the banning of dogs from the new sand beach.

The owners expressed a canine's point of view. The author went on to say that dog owners pay the same taxes as the unfortunate dogless humans, yet there are no sidewalks to safely walk on, and parks do not allow dogs. Even the walking track has a ban on

The owners want to know just where they are to walk their dog, and they do scoop up after their pet.

A comment I would like to make is, there are very few pet owners who would take to the task of scooping. True, pets need to have a place to walk, but just like anything else, not everyone is as considerate as the pet

A mention, too, was made about how humans have very little regard for our beaches, as they throw litter around without a second thought for anyone else.

The author feels the beach should be for everyone, and humans should be more considerate and clean up after themselves and doggies, too.

Thanks for the letter.

Cole ousted as Democratic leader

A spunky rear-guard revolt within the State Democratic Executive Committee last Saturday ousted controversial Democratic chairman Ed Cole, whose eight-year leadership has been marked by highly questionable handling of party finances and continuing racial

Whether or not the ousting of Cole - voted by less than a majority of the 96-member Democratic executive committee — will stick was still up in the air over the weekend and very likely will end up in the courts.

But in the rocky history of the state Democratic Party in Mississippi over the pats quarter century, the move to dump Cole was unprecedented.

Vice-chairman Eva Noblin of Pulaski, using an obscure provision in the party constitution for 25 members of the committee to call a special committee meeting, had telephoned or sent notices by mailgram to all members of the committee to attend the rump session.

When 35 members showed up, enough under the party constitution to have a quorum, the Democratic rebels proceeded to unseat Cole, and elected Noblin, a longtime white Democratic loyalist and officer of the state party, to fill Cole's spot.

The vote to remove Cole was 29 for, 4 against and one abstain. Only six of the approximate 46 black members of the executive committee took part in the meeting. Cole, although notified, didn't attend.

The long-simmering revolt against Cole was largely triggered by his repudiation of a promise to the committee last January that he would step down if U.S. Rep Mike Parker, for whom Cole works as a staff assistant in the Jackson office of the 4th District congressman, picked up a viable Democratic opponent.

Recently, after two Democratic opponents, including state Treasurer Marshall Bennett, came out against Parker, Cole said he had changed his mind and would stay on as party chairman and keep his job with Several executive committee members made it clear they were incensed by the conflict of interest inherent in Cole's role as a paid employee of Parker, while at the same time serving in a position to certify the returns of a primary election in which his boss would be involved.

Others made it evident that they were unable to abide Cole's slipshod handling of party finances which has become increasingly evident the past several years.

Party treasurer Stephen Hale of Moss Point said, "I've been frustrated the past two years ... I have no way to make any accounting of the finances to the party because I do not have any information."

Last year, Hale had revealed to this writer that Cole had unilaterally created a "chairman's fund" to receive money raised from the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, and that he (Hale) had no idea how much was in it. Hale said he had not even been notified of the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner held this March, and if any money was raised for the party coffers, "I don't know of it.'

Committee member Jim Mabus of Jackson, told the committee: "We need to know where the money is, how much there is, and where it went."

A motion was adopted by the committee that henceforth all checking accounts, including the chairman's fund must have a double signature, countersigned by the chairman of the budget and finance committee.

Cecil Brown of Jackson, the budget and finance chairman, said he has been kept in the dark on party revenues and that he doubted the party "has enough funds to hire anybody to come in and see where we are financially."

A recurring complaint that Cole's tenure has resulted in a sharp drop-off of regular giving to the party, was voiced by committee member Jean Marszahek of Starkville. "There are a lot of people who won't support the party the way it is now," she declared. Noblin, who has been known as a healer of black-white tensions within the party, said the ouster of Cole "is not about personalities . . . this is about the Democratic Party. I saw us falling apart...I can't raise money any more for the Democratic Only one dissenting vote was cast when the committee members present ratified elevating Noblin to replace Cole. But Herb Montgomery, a

Cole ally, charged that he regarded "this a fraudulent meeting and I will inform the general counsel of the state Democratic Party."

The party, however, doesn't have a general counsel.

Crime bill offers tougher punishment/prevention

The House of Representatives has based the most sensible crime bill in recent memory. Top initiatives of the $28 billion House bill focus on hiring more local police, building more prisons and expanding the federal death penalty from two to crimes, including drive-by killings and fatal carjackings.

I sincerely believe the House of Representatives has listened to the American People. Americans are fed up with violent crime, repeat offenders and prison overcrowding.

I am extremely pleased with our work on "truth in sentencing." So often, criminals know that if it is their first or second offense, they'll get off with probation. If we intend to deter crime we should tell criminals if you do the crime, then you should do all your time." A 20-year sentence should mean just that, a 20-year sentence.

Compared to the Senate's version that passed last year, the House bill proposes more than twice the funding to build more prisons and steer young people away from crime. It also does not include the Senate's controversial proposal to ban certain semiautomatic

However, not all is fine with the House crime bill. I am disappointed the House narrowly approved an amendment, 217 to 212, that will make it easier for defendants facing the death penalty to challenge death sentences by using quotas in sentencing.

If anything, we need to simplify the appeals process, not lengthen it. I believe it sets a dangerous precedent to rely on quotas for death sentencing. I am so much opposed to this provision that if Senate and House members don't delete it during conference, I will have to vote against the entire bill.

The House crime bill, overall, authorizes $14.1 billion for prison construction and boot camps, $3.9 billion for 50,000 community police, $6.6 billion for crime prevention programs and $1.9 billion for drug rehabilitation and other programs.

Key members from the House and Senate are now meeting in conference to produce a final bill acceptable to both chambers. I expect conferees to release their final draft to Congress sometime before Memor-

Secretary of State update on elections, report filing

All corporations doing business in Mississippi face an April 1 deadline to file annual reports with the Secretary of State's

"Filing an annual report is vital if a corporation wants to continue operating in good standing," said Susan A. Shands, assistant secretary of state for Securities & Business Services. "Failure to file could cause a corporation to lose its legal status of good standing in Mississippi.'

More than 35,000 corporations must file their reports by the April 1 deadline. For more information call 359-1333.

Qualifying deadline April 8 is the qualifying deadline for Mississippians seeking offices up for election later this year, said Secretary of State Dick Molpus.

Offices for thich to qualify

• U.S. Senate, one seat • U.S. House of Representatives, one from each congressional district

 Supreme Court justice, Southern District (District 2, Place I)

• Appellate judge, one from each congressional district Chancery and circuit

County court judges April 8 also is the deadline to register by mail to vote in the June 7 and June 28 party primaries. Deadline to register by mail to vote in the Nov. 8 general election is Sept. 9.

Molpus said eligible persons can register to vote in the circuit clerk's or municipal clerk's office up until 30 days before an election. Local questions about elections should be directed to the circuit clerk or county election commission.

Fee-paid officials

April 15 is the deadline for income reports to be filed by Mississippi elected officials being paid on a fee basis chancery clerks, circuit clerks and constables.

State law requires fee-paid officials to report their previous year income with the Secretary of State's office.

Election training

Election administrators will be trained throughout the state during a series of seminars sponsored by the Mississippi Secretary of State's Office, according to Constance Slaughter-Harvey, assistant secretary of state for elections.

By law, all county and municipal election commissioners, as well as political party executive committee chairpersons, are required to attend certification training annually.

offered to pay up to $100,000 in an attempt to transplant some of the sea grasses - although even the agencies which are battling to protect the grasses say there's a dirth of information on how to transplant it

The county had planned to locate an expert in the field, and try a one-year demonstration project of transplanting the grasses. If that failed, the county planned to devise an alternative mitigation project. But supervisors had been adamant that a cap be placed on how much the mitigation efforts would cost.

Project engineer William Mitchell said Tuesday the Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service refused the cap idea. To make sure that was the federal officials' final position, Mitchell left Tuesday's meeting and telephoned a key Corps official. He then reported back to the board that the position was firm.

Mitchell said the reduced project that had been offered as a compromise would have impacted 4.23 acres of sea grasses - only about four percent of the total of such grasses located in the project area.

almost immediately upon exposure to air, and would have to be transplanted under water, he said. He said there were so many unknowns about the technology of such a project, any guess on a price tag would be 'pure speculation."

Resources officials only recently raised the sea grass issue with the county, saying the grasses developed after the county was issued its permit for the project in 1991. While the vegetation, they are uncommon and are an important part of the food chain, BMR officials say.

Supervisors agreed Tuesday to have the contractor stockpile some 5,000 to 6,000 yards of sand near the end of the project. The material may be taken by truck later to renew a small stretch of existing beach at Buc-

Because of Brother Stephen's long-flowing white beard, the boys referred to him as 'Rip Van Winkle, thus the school was also called Rip University.

History to continue after oak's death

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL After standing guard over the Bay of St. Louis on Beach Boulevard, the ancient oak that had been a landmark for so long has come down. The tree had been struck by lightening and had long ceased to be available for shade or much of anything else, but it does have a future. The useable ment of the U.S.S. Constitution, docked in Boston, Mass.

The idea for its use struck local residents David Reynolds and his wife Kate. Reynolds was formerly in the lumber business and a boat builder. He ran an ad in the Small Boat Journal advertising the fact that the tree could be used for a better purpose than firewood and the wood will go into the refurbish- group restoring the U.S.S. Constitution responded.

The natural curves and bends made it ideal material for the restoration and oak "stands up against rot," Reynolds said. Seabees from the Naval Mobile Construction Battalion, Gulfport, were enlisted to help with the removal of the tree, which got underway on Monday.

First Class Petty Officer Jeff hannon explained the process.

"It's going to good use," he said. The Seabees, working together as an exercise in cooperation, had the better part of three days in which to work on the task, he said.

"To take time to be real safe about it," Shannon explained. A picture of the oak was sent to Boston and "people who take care of the U.S.S. Constitution sent back diagrams on how to cut the tree. Yellow marks denoted the cuts they wanted made and the Seabees took it from there. The better part of the tree came down on Monday and the rest was history by Tuesday evening. All that is left of about 400 years is a stump with a hole in

The Seabees took the tree sections back to the base, where they will "weigh it and cube it for packaging," Shannon said.

The officer said the effort drew tremendous support from the city. Reynolds, who maintains an interest in using trees designated for removal, welcomes anyone with a candidate tree to call him at 467-1167.

Casino Magic aligns itself with a different but equally potent magic on Saturday, April 30 when, in association with West Coast Entertainment, they present "in person" eight of the original Munchkin actors from the classic MGM film, The Wizard of Oz. The little people, who just 55 years ago escorted the lengendary Judy Garland down the yellow brick road, will appear from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the casino, 711 Casino Magic Drive, Bay St. Louis.

The Munchkin's local appearance serves to launch We're Off to See the Munchkins," a 78-minute home video documentary produced by John J. Anderson for West Coast Entertainment. The program features all eight of the little people coming to Casino Magic as they remember the joy and excitement of helping to create a motion picture that has since been seen by more people than any other entertainment. The April 30 appearance is open to the public, free of charge. Each of the Munchkin actors will be introduced from the Casino Magic stage and take questions from the audience after a video preview of highlights from the new documentary.

The Casino Magic performance will be moderated by John Fricke, often called "the world's most respected Oz historian." Fricke wrote, hosted, and codirected "We're Off to See the Munchkins." He is the author of "The Wizard of Oz/ The Official 50th Anniversary Pictorial History and Judy Garland/World's Greatest Entertainer.

In addition, it was stated that the dividend was forthcoming just for the asking, whether or not the veteran still carries the

Once again, I want to emphasize that nothing could be further from the truth as I stressed in an article in this column last year.

The following news release from the Department of Veterans Affairs in July 1993 should clarify the matter for those veterans who have been so misinformed and built up their false hopes and even applied for the 'dividend.'

A survey to determine the kinds and amounts of waste pesticide products in Hancock County and across the state is underway.

The survey will be used to help plan a statewide program to collect these waste pesticide products, said Drew Bates. county agent in Hancock County.

The survey is designed to identify the extent of waste pesticide products, such as those used to control insects, weeks, crop disease and other pests.

According to Bates, the survey is intended for farmers, homeowners or property owners, private pesticide applicators and others with waste pes-ticides that should be disposed

Copies of the survey are also available through the county Soil Conservation Service, Agri-cultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Farm Bureau and local chemical and agricultural supply dealers.

Those taking part in the survey are asked to complete it by May 20. The one-page survey asks basic, non-personal information pertaining directly to the kinds and amounts of waste pesticides on hand, Bates said.

SSC's string of six titles snapped; Tigers place fourth

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II The St. Stanislaus track team's dominance in the Division 8 Class 4A track meet was halted on April 25 when the d'Iberville Warriors outscored the Rocks 136 to 107. The Rocks finished second in the team standings. This is the meet that ate hurdles. decides the division champion and the qualifiers for the South State competition. To qualify for South State, a competitor must place either first or second in the district to move on.

The Rocks held a slim 12 point lead after the meet's first day on April 20. The first day of the meet had all field event finals, the 3200m run final, and preliminary trials for the 100m. 200m, 400m, 110m high hurdles, and 300m intermediate hurdle races.

Even though the Rocks held the slight lead, they had their share of ups and downs on the first day of the meet. The Rocks won numerous field events to take the lead. SSC's Kevin McKnight won the pole vault with a district record setting vault of 13'6". Vince Moran won the high jump with a height of 6'6". Moran is the defending Class 4A state champion in the high jump. Brandon Benoit won the triple jump with a leap of 40'7". The Rocks also managed to qualify David Bell and Gilly Chamberlain for South State competition by placing second in the discus and 3200m run, respectively.

However, the Rocks hit hard times when they failed to qualify any runner for the finals in the 100m and 200m dashes.

The second day of the meet was April 25, a day dominated by the Warriors of d'Iberville. On this day the Rocks qualified only one person for South State competition as the Warriors were winning six of the day's ten events.

Coach Larry Ramsey and the SSC coaching staff commented, We were a young team this year and it showed. We will get better with experience. We also counted on some people who let us down by not coming out. I'm very proud of the guys who stuck it out and gave it their

Hansen, Bay St. Louis. Well Jim, let's start with Octagon soap. I said in an earlier column that you could use the soap for bait on trot lines for catfish. Yes, it does work. You can find Octagon soap in most grocery stores for somewhere around 75 cents a bar. It is made by the Colgate-Palmolive Company. Yes, it is for real. Next, the red-looking bait that you saw on the trot lines could be the type that is sold in pint containers in some bait shops. It is usually some type of liver byproduct or pieces of animal liver that has been processed to firm up its texture to make it last longer on the hook,

It has been my experience that you will usually need a gas mask to remove this bait from its container when you wish to use it. I think that processors add extra stink to make the catfish think they are gonna' get a gourmet meal.

Something New.
1(60)352-993

There's something new to remember. From now on, when you make long distance calls to telephone numbers within Mississippi's 601 area code, dial 0 or 1 + 601 and then the number you're calling.

The nation's continued telecommunications growth has created a shortage of telephone numbers. By dialing the appropriate area code on all long distance calls, numbers are freed up for new business and residential customers.

If you have long distance numbers within the 601 area code on any programmed services or equipment like Speed Calling, Call Forwarding, modems, or even a FAX machine, now's the time to reprogram them. Effective May 1, 1994, dialing the area code will be necessary to complete long distance calls to telephone numbers within the 601 area.

Wilcox selected to represent Bay High at seminar

Amanda Wilcox has been chosen to represent Bay Senior High at the Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership Seminar. HOBY has conducted annual seminars since 1958.

During the seminars, students have the opportunity to meet, interact with and question regionally, nationally and internationally renowned leaders.

Selection is based on a student's leadership abilities, sensitivity to others and desire to communicate knowledge. The emphasis is on personal incentive and leadership abilities.

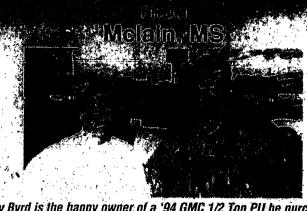

The seminar will be May 13-15 at Millsaps College in Jackson, where one boy and girl will be chosen to attend the World Leadership Congress in Phoenix, Ariz.

Wilcox is a sophomore at Bay High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilcox of Waveland.
